

Quigley's Film Critic

Class:	Mayfly Emerger / Cripple
Matches:	Most any mayfly cripple, BWO's, PMD's, March Brown's etc.
Originator:	Bob Quigley
Source:	At most Fly Shops See Tying Recipe

Clay's Notes

One of Quigley's most popular patterns is the Film Critic. Using Quigley's own ground-breaking Hackle Stacker hackling technique for flotation and the impression of legs, the Film Critic creates the impression of a mayfly nymph hanging in the surface film, distracted by its own stuttered emergence. Half nymph, half adult, the Film Critic mimics a mayfly at its most compromised stage as well as providing good visibility for fly fishers.

Quigley's Film Critic Tying Recipe

Hook:	TMC #2487
Thread:	Pale yellow
Tail:	2 strands root beer midge flash and brown darlon - sparse
Rib:	Fine copper wire
Abdomen:	Brown goose biot (long side of feather)
Thorax:	Yellow superfine dubbing
Hackle:	Pale ginger tied para-loop style (hackle stacker or pull-over) on a hackle post of dun siliconized antron. Leave a tag end at the rear.
Wing/Wingcase:	Same as hackle post butt end left to form wing and tips marked with a sharpie.

For information on Guiding, Classes, Workshops & Technique Clinics, Contact Clay Hash

